RUSSIAN DENIES ROLE IN HUNGARY REVOLT

Special to The New York Times.

BONN, Germany, May 6—Dr. Vladimir D. Poremsky, president of N. T. S., an anti-Communist Russian émigré organization with headquarters in Frankfurt, stated today that his group had broadcast "flagrant statements" inciting the Hungarians to revolt last November.

Asserting that the National Alliance of Russian Solidarists (N. T. S.) had broadcast such statements were made recently by officials of Radio Free Europe.

Dr. Poremsky said broadcasts of his organization had been directed primarily at Soviet troops urging them to assist the rebels. N. T. S. also broadcast to the urging them to accept defections from the Soviet Army.

However, Dr. Poremsky said, a misunderstanding might have arisen from a broadcast on Oct. 29 by a Hungarian émigré group that used N. T. S. radio facilities.

"One sentence in the [illegible] could possibly have figured," Dr. Poremsky said. "In the statement 'material help of the Western world has already been dispatched to you.' The 'help' referred to food, clothing and medicine, he said.

N. T. S. is an organization working toward overthrow of the Soviet regime both by means of broadcasts said by Agents in the Soviet Union.
